Funding for Heroin overdose reversal kits

Gov. Steve Beshear, first lady Jane Beshear and Attorney General Jack Conway announced that heroin overdose reversal kits will be purchased for Kentucky hospitals with the highest rates of heroin overdose deaths. Overdose patients will receive a kit free of charge when they leave the hospital, so they or a loved one can prevent another overdose event and possibly save a life. The funding is provided through the Substance Abuse Treatment Advisory Committee (SATAC).

"Heroin has harrowing impacts on people who use it, as well as on their families and their communities. Many hospitals in Kentucky see multiple overdose victims every day," said Gov. Beshear. "These kits, once in the community, can allow a friend or family member to reverse a heroin overdose almost immediately. It's a literal lifesaver as families forge a path toward recovery."

Gov. Steve Beshear created SATAC by executive order to oversee the KY Kids Recovery grant program and distribution of the $32 million in settlement funds that Attorney General Conway secured from two pharmaceutical companies. The judge required the settlement funds be used to expand treatment in Kentucky. Attorney General Conway chairs the committee and first lady Jane Beshear serves on the committee.

Kentucky Youth Assembly Delegation visits Frankfort

The Pendleton County High School KYA (Kentucky Youth Assembly) delegation performed with excellence during days of mock legislative debate in both Louisville and Frankfort. These students looked at issues as they relate to them and engaged in research to help them better understand each issue. Many of the delegation speeches were very well prepared and others were impromptu but all were thoughtfully executed. KYA is a very large assembly and only a small amount of awards are given so each is to be cherished.

The PCHS legislative bill written by Seth Longworth and Mikinley Grace Lustenberg passed both chambers at the Capitol and avoided veto with the mock governor (making it mock law). Of all the bills presented, approximately 25% make it to be heard in one chamber at the actual Capitol and if passed then is heard in the second chamber. Of those, 12% pass both chambers and avoid Governor veto to become mock law. PCHS was one of those. The PCHS premiere bill written by freshman students, Cullen Beard and Alex Tillett, was presented at the Capitol Annex and passed in the Senate but was defeated in the house. These students presented very well, especially as first time bill authors.

PCHS junior Mackenzie

Moore, was named as media editor for next year's KYA conference Media Corp program. PCHS sophomore Mikinley Grace Lustenberg was named Outstanding Delegate and the legislative bill authored by Seth and Gracie was named the Outstanding Bill for the entire conference. This is a first in Pendleton County KYA/KUNA history and a major accomplishment.

Advisor Michelle Lustenberg stated she received many compliments from Y-Staff and other advisors at KYA on the performance of the PCHS delegation. Lustenberg says, "I can tell you in all honesty these students represented Pendleton County with greatness!"

Toyota helps Pendleton Head Start buy a computer and Child Development Software for classes

The Northern Kentucky Community Action Commission received a $2,676 grant from Toyota Engineering and Manufacturing, North America, to support its Falmouth Head Start center.

The money will be used to purchase an interactive computer system for the classroom at the Pendleton County Head Start.

"This computer," says Head Start Director Laurie Wolsing, "will make a great difference in these children's lives. We are always looking for ways to enhance the learning experience, and by allowing our students to create a foundation of technological skills, we are making a huge impact on their entire educational career."

The iStartSmart software to be purchased for the Falmouth Head Start classroom offers comprehensive skills development in 18 essential areas and moves children through activities as they are developmentally ready for each. The playful and purposeful activities are available in both English and Spanish and

Heroin bill sails through state Senate

By James Pilcher
The Kentucky Enquirer

FRANKFORT -- Fixing Kentucky's expanding heroin epidemic was the state government's main topic throughout the first week, January 5-9 of the opening session, with the state Senate unanimously passing a heroin bill Thursday.

SB 5, which was sponsored by Sen. Chris McDaniel, R-Taylor Mill, would expand treatment and increase penalties for traffickers. It includes more than $13 million for treatment, but more than half of that would go to county jails to treat addicted prisoners.

It as the first bill passed by the Republican-controlled Senate, in a symbolic move that was geared at the Democratic-controlled House, which failed to pass similar legislation last year.

"I'm proud, for the second year in a row, that this body, in a bipartisan manner, has passed this as its first piece of legislation," said Senate majority leader Damon Thayer, R-Georgetown. "This isn't going to completely cure the problem ... but we need to send the dealers the message that Kentucky is closed for business."

County Judge W.J. Newkirk and Mayor J.M. Mason went to Frankfort last week and met with the State Highway Department concerning the building of Route No. 27 from Butler to the Harrison County line.

Last Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 3 was Cold Cash in Falmouth, sponsored by the progressive merchants, and was attended by more than a thousand citizens from every section of the county. More than twenty merchants inaugurated this movement for the purpose of stimulating business and creating a good feeling with the citizens who shop in this city.

Falmouth defeated Williamstown here last night by a score of 25 to 23. It was the first win of the season for the Red Devils, and also a Pentagram defeat for Williamstown.

It has been extremely dry all fall and winter and this has caused a shortage of water in the county. To add to the seriousness of the situation, the cold weather of the past ten days has caused the small supply of water in the creeks, ponds and springs to freeze, cutting of this supply.

Kentucky Farm Bureau's college scholarships

The holiday season may have just come to a close, but Kentucky Farm Bureau (KFB) has one more gift to give to a select number of high school seniors across the state - college scholarships. Later this spring, the KFB Education Foundation will award college scholarships ranging from $400 to $4,000 to 83 high school seniors pursuing a four-year degree.

To be considered, students must complete the application available for download at kyfb.com/scholarships and return the requested material to KFB postmarked by February 28, 2015. Qualifying students will have at least a 3.5 grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) or a minimum 23 ACT score, be the child of a KFB member, and finish high school within the year in which they apply.

KFB also offers four additional scholarships, ranging from $1,000 to $3,000. To be considered for these college scholarships, students must meet the varied criteria outlined for each, complete the appropriate downloadable application available for at kyfb.com/scholarships and return the requested material to KFB postmarked by April 24, 2015.

"The Foundation's goal is to assist as many individuals as possible in attaining their educational pursuits," said Susie Tanner, Coordinator of KFB's Education Foundation. "Post-secondary education costs continue to rise and Farm Bureau scholarships help defray some of the expenses associated with obtaining a degree. There is no better investment for the organization than to invest in our members and their children."

KFB's Education Foundation, created to help Farm Bureau members and their families reach their goal of obtaining post-secondary education, was formed in 1953. During the last 61 years, the Education Foundation has awarded over 1,400 college scholarships - worth more than $2.2 million dollars - to both traditional and non-traditional students.

To learn more about these and several other college scholarships offered by Kentucky Farm Bureau, visit kyfb.com/scholarships.

pieces of heroin legislation introduced in the House as well. That body is expected to take up heroin in the next session, scheduled to start on Feb. 3.

The passage came a day after Gov. Steve Beshear called for more action to ease the grip of the drug in his annual – and final – State of the Commonwealth speech Wednesday night.

"Heroin is a big problem in Kentucky, and it is only growing worse every day," Beshear said, citing statistics such as overdose deaths and rising prosecutions.

"We need legislation that expands access to drugs that immediately reverse the effects of overdoses, that protects law enforcement and health care workers from needle sticks, that expands access to treatment, and that protects users from prosecution for minor drug charges when they call 911 to help an overdose victim."

McDaniel's bill has aspects that cover all those subjects. Senate Bill 5 would provide an additional $13 million to addiction treatment, with $7.5 million going to county jails to get prisoners into treatment.

In addition, SB5 would absolve first responders from liability from administering naloxone, a drug that immediately counteracts the affects of heroin for overdose victims. Although the bill would increase penalties for heroin traffickers, several senators questioned what the line should be between a user and trafficker.

During testimony before the Senate judiciary committee Wednesday, McDaniel brought in two people impacted by heroin, including 23-year-old recovering addict Alex Elswick of Lexington, who became addicted following wisdom tooth surgery while attending Centre College.

"I've lost too many friends and loved ones to this disease, and that's what this is," said Elswick, who has been in recovery for 16 months.

Jessica Tomlin of Morning View, whose sister Tabatha Roland of Burlington died of an overdose at the age of 24 in 2013 also spoke.

"If this bill had been in place back then, there is a good chance my sister would still be alive," Tomlin said.

McDaniel said he was "thrilled" that the bill sailed through this week, but he said he knows it's not over. Similar legislation died late in the House session last year.

But leaders of both houses committed yet again on Thursday that there will be substantive heroin legislation, and McDaniel said he is ready to discuss possible changes in committee, if it makes it that far.

"I think most of this becomes law," McDaniel said. "The big thing is that there is always that fine balance ... and there will be some level of change. But this is a strong step forward."

Tips to keep winter energy bills in check

As winter temperatures drop, the potential for higher utility bills goes up. Taking steps ahead of the cold season can help you trim costs and make your home more energy efficient, keeping those utility bills in check even as the winter weather rages.

According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration, electricity costs are on the rise. Before winter weather sets in for your part of the country, take some time to assess your home for potential problem areas and improvements that can help lower your energy costs.

Lighting

Though turning off unneeded lights is a smart strategy any time of year, it's especially helpful during the winter months when utility expenses can add up. New technology lets you manage your lights away from home – handy if you're gone for the day and realize lights were left on and if you're away from home for an extended period, as you can turn specific lights on to give the appearance that someone is home so you can vacation worry-free. If you replace a 60-watt incandescent light bulb with a 12-watt LED bulb, you would save $132 over the life of the bulb at an electricity rate of $0.11 per kWh.

Water heaters

Heat isn't the only system that gets an extra workout come winter. Cooler house temperatures may require water heaters to work harder, so ensuring you have a model well-suited to your family's year-round needs is key. In fact, heating water is the second source of energy use in the residential home after space heating and cooling, with standard electric water heaters costing the average homeowner $585 every year to operate. One energy-efficient option is the 50-gallon hybrid electric water heater, which can save the average household $365 every year (using 1514 kWh per year and national average electricity rate of 12 cents per kWh) compared to a 50-gallon standard electric water heater (using 4646 kWh per year), as based on a test comparison. Some also offer features such as vacation mode, which lowers the water temperature during a trip, then reenergizes

Managing pain from arthritis naturally

One in five adults in the United States now reports having doctor-diagnosed arthritis, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). For those living with the chronic pain of this disease, learning how to manage arthritis is crucial to the health and happiness of millions of Americans.

With that in mind, here are several natural ways to reduce complications and pain associated with arthritis:

- Those who are overweight or obese are diagnosed with an arthritis symptom more often than those with a lower body mass index, according to CDC statistics. Take a load off your joints by maintaining a healthy weight. Weight loss has also been linked to less pain from arthritis, tis, especially in the knees, which bear the brunt of excess pounds.

- Evidence indicates that both endurance and resistance exercise can provide significant benefits to those with osteoarthritis, according to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. However, arthritis patients should typically avoid placing too much pressure on joints. Low-impact exercises such as biking, swimming and walking are recommended treatments for arthritis. A doctor or physical therapist is a good resource for helping you make a fitness game plan.

- No matter what precautions you take, pain from your condition is sometimes inevitable. And when it's severe, it can be debilitating.

Some arthritis medications mask pain, which may make it harder to gauge the status of your condition. A homeopathic medicine, however, works naturally with your body to ease suffering from arthritis pain.

- Stiff joints can be painful. Stretch regularly to prevent stiffness. Full range of motion exercises can help you stay limber and maintain function.

Arthritis actually refers to more than 100 different kinds of musculoskeletal disorders that affect people of all ages. If you're one of the millions of Americans suffering from arthritis, take natural steps to prevent and manage the pain associated with your condition.

A-Team completes service learning project

Sharp Middle School A-Team students put their talents to work for a very special service learning project. Students from Mrs. Pollard's and Mrs. Maddy's classes at Southern Elementary created 2D images of creatures which their teachers sent to GATES teacher, Michelle Lustenberg. Some of the images were created from cut construction paper and others were computer generated. Mrs. Lustenberg's gave a brief lesson in sewing and the A-Team students took the 2D images and created 3D stuffed toys.

This was only the beginning of the lesson. Students then had to measure the finished product and then create the box that it would fit in. The packaging was created from flat pieces of cardboard which students had to measure, cut, glue, and paint to create packaging complete with a viewing window to see the toy.

This was an excellent combination of Math and Art skills as well as a wonderful way to bring joy to others. The toys were delivered to Mrs. Pollard's and Mrs. Maddy's students just before Christmas Break.

Back row: Saleen Schulze, Allie Moore, Kirkland Brannen, Rebecca Best, Marian Rice, Holly Bowman, Brett Bonar, Morgan England, Emily Bertram, Maggie Burgemeir, Jayden Hartman.

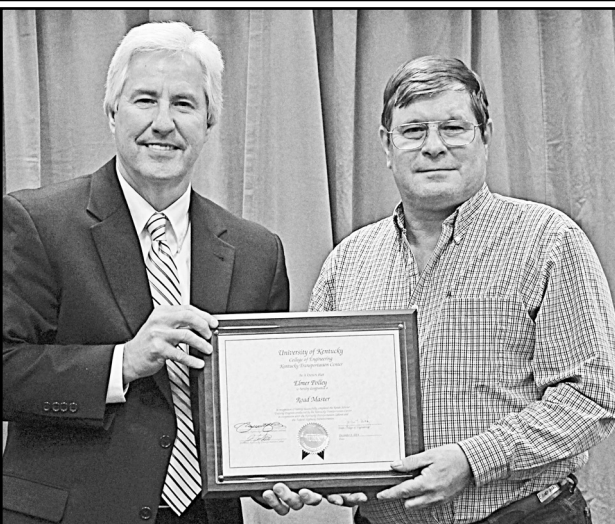

Chase Meadows and Derrick Brearton enjoy the gifts that were made for them by A-Team members.

BRENDA GILKISON

Gilkison retires after 50 years

After fifty years of faithful service to Kentucky Farm Bureau, (KFB), of Pendleton County, Brenda Gilkison, shown above with her farewell cake and flowers, retired on December 30, 2014. Immediately after graduation in 1963, Brenda started work with KFB in the office located in downtown Falmouth. At that time Les and Arnold Conrad were the agency managers. When Arnold passed away Veldon Boggs took his place. "At that time we did everything by hand, now it's with computers and things are constantly changing," says Brenda. A lot changed in her personal life during those fifty years as well. She married her husband, Mike Gilkison, and had two daughters, Jana Smith and Julie Wood and was blessed with four grandchildren, Kristen, Jonah, Hunter and Alex. A major change at work was when the office relocated to the new Farm Bureau building in 1968. During her days there, Brenda has seen times of tragedy, tornadoes and floods. "The best part of my work is being able to help people," she says. "I never dreading going to work. I enjoyed every day I worked." Steve Ammerman has worked with Brenda for 26 years. "Brenda's very dedicated," he praises her. "She can't be replaced. You can't teach what she knows, her knowledge of fifty years. I've learned more from her than anyone." For Brenda, the best part of her job was associating with the people and that she will miss, but she has a busy life outside the office. Her husband retired after 39 years with CSX and together they raise a big garden, enjoy going to auctions, and run a couple of farms where they raise beef cattle. "I felt I'd been there long enough," Brenda offered. No one can argue that point, half a century is a sufficient time of service.

Newly-elected Judge Fryman takes office

Newly elected Family Court Judge Heather M. Fryman took office this week after being sworn in by Chief Justice of Kentucky John D. Minton Jr. at a ceremony Dec. 8, 2014, in the Supreme Court Courtroom at the state Capitol in Frankfort.

Judge Fryman was sworn in while in Frankfort to attend the New Judges Orientation that the Administrative Office of the Courts provided for Kentucky's newest group of judges-elect. The AOC Division of Judicial Branch Education worked with the Education Committees of the Kentucky circuit and district Judges associations to provide a comprehensive orientation program for the 32 judges who were elected to Circuit and District courts in the November 2014 election. All the newly elected judges took office Monday, Jan. 5.

The judges-elect participated in judicial education courses on such topics as contempt of court, pretrial release and bond, domestic violence, judicial writing, ethics and courtroom technology. They also attended sessions on managing courtrooms, being on call after hours and working with criminal justice partners.

"It's important for new judges to get off to a good start and the New Judges Orientation program was designed to let them know what to expect when they take office," Chief Justice Minton said. "They benefited from the expertise of the experienced judges who conducted the sessions and were also able to network with their newly elected colleagues."

Each judge-elect was paired with an experienced judge from a similar jurisdiction through the new Transitions: Lawyer-to-Judge Mentoring Program. The program was created by the Kentucky Circuit and District Judges education committees to let mentor judges share successful techniques with new judges and provide guidance about professional practices and the practical application of general legal concepts.

Of the newly elected judges, nine are district court judges and 23 are circuit court judges (14 in the family court division). The 2014 election marked the first time in eight years that all 116 district court and 146 circuit court judicial seats, including 51 family court judgeships, were on the ballot. All seats statewide come up for election once every eight years based on the eight-year term of a circuit judge and four-year term of a district judge.

In addition to general sessions, the orientation offered courses for each group of judges.

Circuit judges learned about civil and criminal rules procedures, jury management, evidence-based practices, appeals, capital cases, evidentiary issues and trial, docket and case management. Circuit court is the court of general jurisdiction that hears civil matters involving more than $5,000, capital offenses and felonies, divorces, adoptions, termination of parental rights, land dispute title cases and contested probate cases.

Sessions for family court judges covered divorce, child support, child fatalities in Kentucky, child custody and the interstate compact, termination of parental rights, adoptions and recent family law cases. Family court is a division of circuit court. In counties with family court, the court has primary jurisdiction in cases involving family issues, including divorces, adoption, child support, domestic violence and juvenile status offenses.

District court judges had courses on probate, DU small claims, evictions and mental health cases. District court judges handle juvenile matters, city and county ordinances, misdemeanors, violations, traffic offenses, probate of wills, arraignments, felony probable cause hearings, small claims involving $2,500 or less, civil cases involving $5,000 or less, voluntary and involuntary mental commitments and cases relating to domestic violence and abuse.

The judges-elect also attended an AOC Vendor Fair during the orientation, which allowed them to work with AOC staff to decide on office space, order computer equipment and judicial robes, learn about court resources and complete personnel paperwork.

Judges who had been serving by appointment prior to the election and retained their seats in the election were also invited to participate in the orientation program. These judges took office immediately.

This week at the State Capitol

Though regular sessions of the Kentucky General Assembly are yearly events, in many ways each one signals a fresh start.

That was clear this week as the 2015 legislative session convened with numerous new faces in both the House and Senate. The larger-than-usual freshmen class includes six new senators (two of whom previously served in the House) and 11 new House members (one of whom previously served in that chamber.)

The beginning of the session also started anew the journey scores of bills will follow toward become state law. The starting line is the same for all bills: introduction in a legislative chamber. That starting line was a crowded place this week with more than 250 bills filed in the Senate and House combined.

Political observers often pay particularly close attention to the first few bills filed in the House and Senate - a good sign of measures are top priorities of chamber leaders. In the House, a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow local - option sales taxes was filed as House Bill 1. The measure would let voters to decide on a constitutional amendment to help permit communities to implement a temporary sales tax of a penny or less to raise money for a specific project.

At the other end of the Capitol, Senate Bill 1 got off to a fast start by earning approval of the Senate just days after its introduction. The measure would make Kentucky a right-to work state, meaning that people could work at unionized shops without paying dues to an organized labor group. Supporters argue that right-to-work states have a strong edge in job creation while opponents question the quality of life in right-to-work states. SB 1 now goes to the House for consideration.

Although numerous bills started moving through the legislative process this week, there was also much attention on what's known as the "organizational" work that takes place in the first week of odd-year sessions. Committee assignments were made, rules of procedure were adopted and chamber leaders were selected.

There was a mix of both change and continuity in leadership elections. The top leaders in both the Senate and House remain the same with this week's re-election of Senate President Robert Stivers and House Speaker Greg Stumbo to their leadership posts. But there were changes in each chamber's "pro tem" positions - the leadership spot with duties to preside when a chamber's top leader is absent or unavailable.

Sen. David Givens, R-Greensburg, was selected as Senate President Pro Tempore. Rep. Jody Richards, D-Bowling Green, - a former House Speaker - was chosen to serve as House Speaker Pro Tempore.

Democratic and Republican caucuses also announced their leadership lineups in each chamber.

In the Senate, leaders are: Majority Floor Leader Damon Thayer of Georgetown; Minority Floor Leader Ray Jones of Pikeville; Majority Caucus Chair Dan Seum of Louisville; Minority Caucus Chair Gerald Neal; Majority Whip Jimmy Higdon and Minority Whip Julian Carroll.

The House lineup includes: Majority Floor Leader Rocky Adkins of Sandy Hook, Minority Floor Leader Jeffrey Hoover of Jamestown; Majority Caucus Chair Sannie Overly of Paris; Minority Caucus Chair Stan Lee of Lexington; Majority Whip Johnny Bell of Glasgow; and Minority Whip Jim DeCesare of Bowling Green.

The first week of the session also brought House and Senate members together for a joint session in which they heard Gov. Steve Beshear's final State of the Commonwealth address - a one-hour speech with a signature line declaring: "Kentucky is back, and we're back with a vengeance."

The governor outlined his goals for the legislative session in his speech, just as numerous lawmakers have in talks throughout the state and in meetings and interviews since they returned to Frankfort this week. One issue all seem to be talking about is the toll heroin is taking on Kentuckians. Members of both the House and Senate have looked at approaches in dealing with this issue, with one approach already put into the form of legislation approved in a legislative chamber during the first week of the session.

SB 5, approved by the Senate, calls for stronger punishments for heroin dealers as well as better support for treatment programs. The bill also provides for administration of naloxone, a medication used to counter the effects of an overdose, by first responders and provides immunity for those individuals and their employers when the drug is administered. The legislation now goes to the House for consideration.

The Kentucky Legislature Home Page, www.lrc.ky.gov, provides information on each of the Commonwealth's senators and representatives, including phone numbers, addressees, and committee assignments. The site also provides bill texts, a bill-tracking service, and committee meeting schedules.

Glaucoma Awareness Month

Glaucoma affects 2.7 million people in the United States and is the second leading cause of blindness, yet understanding and awareness of the disease is low.

In fact, 72 percent of Americans don't know that glaucoma typically has no early warning signs or symptoms, according to a national survey from the American Optometric Association.

That's why, during Glaucoma Awareness Month in January, the Kentucky Optometric Association (KOA) is urging people take control of their eye health through early detection to help minimize the risk of developing the disease.

Often referred to as the "sneak thief of sight," glaucoma is a group of eye disorders that can damage the optic nerve and impair peripheral vision. If left untreated, glaucoma can lead to complete loss of sight. Although the disease does not have a cure and is not preventable, it is treatable and can be detected in a comprehensive eye exam.

"A common misconception is that glaucoma only affects older adults when, in reality, it can happen at any age," said Dr. Joseph Hammond, an optometrist in Louisville. "In fact, it's most commonly detected in people in their 40s. The key is to identify and diagnose the disease early in order to promptly treat and slow the progression of vision loss."

Americans are also largely unaware of the factors that put them at greater risk for developing glaucoma. Only 13 percent of Americans know that a person's race increases their chances for developing the disease.

According to the Glaucoma Research Foundation, glaucoma is six to eight times more common in African-Americans than Caucasians. Additional factors that put someone at greater risk for glaucoma include those who have a family history of glaucoma, diabetes or hypothyroidism; are over age 60; or have had severe eye trauma.

Treatment for glaucoma includes prescription eye drops and medication to lower pressure in the eyes. In some cases, laser treatment or surgery may be effective in reducing pressure.

In addition to yearly, comprehensive eye exams, the Kentucky Optometric Association suggests the following tips to help maintain overall eye health and clear, comfortable vision:

Eat green, leafy vegetables and foods rich in nutrients like beta carotene, vitamin C and zinc to protect eyes from disease.

Cut down on bad habits such as smoking and consuming alcohol or excessive caffeine, which can all be harmful to the eyes.

Practice the 20/20/20 rule if you work in front of a computer: every 20 minutes, take a 20 second break and look at something 20 feet away to help avoid digital eye strain.

Wear sunglasses with UV-A and UV-B protection year-round.

Angie's Story - Women Helping Women With Cancer

By Angie Smock

Angie Smock of Wilmington, shares the gripping journey she endured with diagnosis of Stage three breast cancer. With no medical insurance, the loss of her mother and grandmother, mounting bills, and a limited support system, how could she move forward? Angie was alone and afraid.

In August of 2010, I had a clean mammogram. In February of 2011, I was diagnosed with Stage three Breast Cancer. I was the youngest of three children and the only female. My mother had passed away in 2003. My grandmother passed away in 2005. With no women to guide me, I was scared. I felt isolated and very unsure. How would my husband and I navigate this uncharted path? I needed sisters and women around me. I needed someone who had been down this road before, but who? I was desperate for information and for someone who understood.

Lucky for me, I heard about a physician's forum being held in my hometown. Here was my opportunity to learn more about my cancer and perhaps meet others who could relate to me. I attended the forum, and walked away with more information than I thought possible! I was able to speak to a panel of four or five physicians. The best thing, it was a free event. Otherwise, I would not have been able to attend. I had no insurance, and could not work!

I also heard about a support group for women with any type of cancer. Wow! Who was this organization reaching out to women during their most uncertain times? I had to know. I quickly learned it was Women of Hope.

The next week, I met Elizabeth and Kenny Barnes. Their compassion for my plight was sincere and genuine. I was quickly asked how help? This is where that uncharted and uncertain path became the road of hope! I joined the support group and instantly gained about five sisters, all of us fighting a different battle, but all bonded by the disease of cancer. Support groups were pivotal in my journey. I had a safe place to cry, to say I was scared, to be given reassurance and hope. To give others hope.

About halfway through my chemotherapy treatment, my physician ordered a mammogram. A second cancer was discovered. The tumor board met, and my treatment was changed to a more aggressive therapy. The therapy, I was told, would wreak havoc on my body - but no one told me it could impact my mind, a rare side-effect.

After the first new treatment, my husband found me up in the middle of the night, very confused and almost "child-like" in my demeanor! The next day, he went to work, only to come home to discover the confusion had worsened. He was terrified. He didn't know what to do. He had to work. I didn't have family to turn to. He was scared to leave me alone.

While pondering on what to do with me, he remembered me talking about Women of Hope! He found Elizabeth's card and called her. "You don't know me, I am Bradley, Angie's husband! I don't know what to do!" He explained what was going on and hoped she would have a resource to help look after me during the day while he was working. Elizabeth asked Bradley what time he went to work. He said, early! "I leave the house around 6:15 to be at work by 6:45." Elizabeth replied, "here is our home address, bring her to us!" For the next year, during my three-week chemotherapy treatment cycles, I would go to the Barnes home, where I would be greeted at the door by a smiling Elizabeth, escorted back to a comfortable bedroom to sleep a few more hours, fed nutritious meals, given my scheduled medicine, and given lots and lots of love! This very act, gave my husband Bradley and me, hope.

When you go through a cancer journey you have no idea what you are going to need. Every journey is different. We had no idea in the beginning of my treatment I would suffer with temporary dementia. We had no idea the financial burden we would be put under. With love and reassurance, Women of Hope helped us endure difficult times in paying for rent, new tires on our vehicle, medicine, and transportation to the doctor. The best gift of all was hope. Hope is priceless!

Note: Four years since diagnosis, Angie's cancer is under control and monitored on a quarterly basis. She and her husband are both working and living in Wilmington.

Women of Hope, a non-profit organization, provides a wide-range of free services to improve the quality of life for female cancer patients and their families. Programs are funded by events such as The East Coast Shag Classic, Jan. 28-Feb. 1, in Wrightsville Beach.

Take pride

Dear Editor,

The Pendleton County Youth Fair picked up trash along Center Ridge Road on Sunday. We collected a total of nineteen bags of garbage. Several tires and even a bar stool were picked up. We ask that you take pride in your community by not throwing your trash out of car windows.

Thank you,
Natalie Wolfe

"Give the world the best you have, and the best will come back to you."
~Madeline Bridges

Happy New Year to everyone! I hope that January 1st has brought about a resolution in your household to join me so that we can utilize our collective knowledge to fight crime in our community. I would like to start 2015 by going over a few of the basics of our criminal justice system.

We will start from square one. What is a crime? A crime takes place when an injury or wrong occurs, not only to an individual victim but to our community as a whole. For example, if John robs Sam, John has committed a crime. Not only is Sam wronged, but society as a whole is wronged because John's actions pose a threat to all of us. Our state lawmakers have established both the definitions and penalties for this type of conduct by enacting criminal laws.

Crimes are classified by their penalty. The main classifications of crimes in Kentucky include violations, misdemeanors, and felonies. Violations are punishable by a fine only. Misdemeanors are punishable by twelve months or less in the county jail and consist of class

A PROSECUTOR'S PERSPECTIVE

B misdemeanors (up to 90 days in jail) and class A misdemeanors (up to 12 months in jail). Felonies are the most serious offenses and are punishable by one year or more in prison. In Kentucky, there are currently five classifications of felonies: class D felonies (1 to 5 years), class C felonies (5 to 10 years), class B felonies (10 to 20 years), class A felonies (20 to 50 years, or life imprisonment), and capital offenses (20 to 50 years, life imprisonment, life imprisonment without parole for 25 years, life imprisonment without parole, or the death penalty).

There are two levels of courts that have the ability to resolve criminal cases: district court and circuit court. The district court has the power to convict individuals of misdemeanors and violations, but not felonies. Your county attorney is the prosecutor of violations and misdemeanors in district court.

The circuit court has the power to convict individuals of felonies as well as any misdemeanors or violations that might accompany those felonies in a particular case. The Commonwealth's attorney's office represents the state and is responsible for prosecuting felony cases in circuit court. Our office enforces the criminal laws and strives to hold each defendant accountable for their crimes. Commonwealth attorneys are basically like the district attorneys that you see on your favorite television crime dramas. (Laws' Legal Disclaimer: Real-life courtrooms are not nearly as entertaining as those you see on Law and Order, Perry Mason, or Matlock.)

Now that you know the different classifications of offenses and in which court they are prosecuted, we can examine how cases proceed through our court system, and we will begin that discussion next month.

Please join me in the conversation by sharing your questions and ideas for future articles with me, visiting our Facebook page (www.facebook.com/18thjc), emailing us at 18thjc@prosecutors.ky.gov, or calling me directly at 859-235-0387, Ext. 224.

Boy Scouts do their part

Dear Editor,

Dakota Lemming

Soccer team picks up trash

Dear Editor,

On Friday October 24, some players from the Pendleton County boys soccer team picked up trash on Rankin Mill and Morgan-Hightower Roads. There were ten people who picked up trash and we had 20 bags full of trash and two tires in this stretch. Most of the trash was paper and plastic from fast food and drinks and was just tossed aside after use.

Thanks for the opportunity to improve our neighborhood.

Sincerely,
Brett Bowen

Wildcats fall to Brossart, rout Burgin

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Pendleton County Wildcats basketball team split a pair of games last week, falling to longtime rival Bishop Brossart while rebounding to collect a lopsided victory at Burgin.

Pendleton County looked to score a rare win at Brossart last Wednesday, Jan. 7, but came up short 54-43. The Wildcats played the Mustangs tight through the game but saw a narrow three-point deficit with three minutes remaining quickly balloon to a double-digit defeat. Brossart was able to execute plays down the stretch while also converting 12 of 14 free throws during the contest.

Junior Michael Antrobus continued his strong play as he led the Cats with a game-high 20 points. Senior center Hunter Lea added seven points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

The Wildcats shot just 33 percent from the floor (17 of 51) and 23 percent from three-point range (6 of 26), but it was the missed opportunities that head coach Keaton Belcher felt decided the outcome.

“We shot the ball poorly for most of the game but we had several open layups and threes that just didn’t go in for us. To be able to win at Brossart you have to be able to make shots and we didn’t,” said Belcher. Coach Belcher also pointed out that the Wildcats have now dropped 23 of its last 30 match-ups versus Brossart.

Last Saturday, Jan. 10, the Cats bounced back to claim a 63-34 win over Burgin. Pendleton County re-captured its shooting touch and canned a season-high 14 three-pointer’s in the rout. Michael Antrobus led three Wildcats in double-figures with 19 points. Wade Browning and Patrick McCain each added 10 points apiece.

“Our ball movement and unselfishness was fantastic. We recorded more assists (21) and more three-pointers (14) that we have all season,” said Belcher. “To hold a team to 34 points on their home court says that our defensive pressure was pretty good,” he added. Coach Belcher also credited Antrobus for his impressive stretch of play over the last two weeks, the junior guard has averaged over 20 points per game since the injury suffered by eighth grader Dontaie Allen.

The Wildcats travel to face off against Beechwood at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 13. On Friday, January 16, they travel to Grant County for a 7:30 p.m. match-up versus the Braves.

Archery with another strong showing

The Pendleton County High School Archery team entered two teams in the Ryle Tournament and came away with two top 10 finishes, loads of experience and another strong showing.

With the high number of individuals participating, coach David Myers was able to field two teams. One team placed 5th overall scoring 3003 points with moves them to Tier 4 for entry into the state. That is a 123 point improvement from the last tournament.

Team two finished 10th with 2750 points.

Clint Moore was the leading archers for the Wildcats with a score of 277 while Ashlie Smith led the Ladycats at 248.

The two top middle school archers were Logan Godman with a 254 and Tiara Brinkman with a 238.

Mason Hornbeck, 7th grader at Sharp Middle School, has an arrow notched and ready to let fly in a recent archery competition for PC Archery. They will be competing in the Calvary Christian Archery Tournament on Saturday, January 17.

The PCHS Archery teams travels to Calvary

Christian on Saturday for their next tournament.

PC Bowling falls to Cooper

While the Wildcats lost to Cooper 5-2, they did win both Bakers Game while the Ladycats fell 7-0.

The Wildcats were impressive in the second Bakers Game as Caleb Vanorio and Dalton Hill rolled the strike. Trevor Colvin picked up a spare and Jonah Smith added a third strike in four frames for the Wildcats.

Through five frames, they held a 93-47 lead flirting with breaking 200 for a Bakers Game. They held on for the 146-117 victory.

Ian West was the star of individual bowling rolling a 145 and a 179 in the two games. Jonah Smith rolled a 124 and a 143 with Robby Maines scoring two games of 122.

On the Ladycat side, Chyann Utz has been consistently their top bowler and she continued that versus Cooper rolling games of 145 and 118. Brittany Strauss scored a 111 and a 115 with Alexis Tolbert rolling a single game score of 131.

PC All Stars vs Harlem Wizards rescheduled

With the weather forecast for the evening of Monday, January 12 calling for a possible refreezing of the wet roads, the Pendleton County Athletic Department and the Harlem Wizards made the early morning call to postpone their game.

The Harlem Wizards, www.harlemwizards.com, is a basketball team that plays local all star teams in the same family fun-filled environment of the Harlem Globetrotters.

The game has been rescheduled 7 p.m., Thursday, May 7.

Ladycats will have busy week ahead

The Pendleton County High School Ladycat Basketball team was scheduled to play two 38th District rivalry games last week but the unfortunate loss of a student in the Robertson County community and the cold weather in Nicholas County led to both games being rescheduled and the Cats to have their version of Camp Collins.

“We play three games this week versus three tough opponents,” coach Scott Collins points out. “It worries me how we will come out and play since our routine was broken with the cancellations.”

Nicholas County was the preseason favorite to win the district title and Pendleton will be able to test that on Tuesday night, January 13 at PCHS.

Mason County is rated in the top three of any 10th Region girls’ basketball poll you see and will be a major test for the Cats. They keep constant pressure on the ball but are relatively young and Pendleton will need to use their experience to handle the pressure.

Campbell County has returned to one of the top teams in the 10th Region after a rough year last year. They play a very fast tempo and this looks to be a high scoring affair between the Ladycats and the LadyCameles.

Ladycat Summer Secrist, eighth grader, looks to attack the basketball in recent action versus Bracken County. Summer is in her second season of Ladycat basketball and is a key member for the Ladycats who host Nicholas County at 6 and 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 13

Safe use of standby generators

Standby generators provide emergency electrical power during disruptions caused by winter storms and other disasters. However, you need to take some special precautions to ensure safe, efficient operation of these generators.

Make sure to purchase a generator that is rated for the amount of power you need and buy one that will supply more than what you need, so you don't blow a fuse or damage the equipment you plan to attach to the generator. You'll find power information on the labels of appliances, lighting and other equipment. The wattage on a light bulb indicates the amount of power it needs.

The main hazards of using a generator are carbon monoxide poisoning, electric shock and fire. There are some precautions you can take to make sure you don't have a mishap.

Use a double-throw type transfer switch if you're connecting a standby generator directly to an existing electrical wiring system to provide power for a home, farm or small business. A double-throw switch allows you to place the switch into two different positions.

One position feeds normal power from the utility line to the load, such as the household or building circuit, just like the power flows under normal circumstances. In the other position, it disconnects the utility line and feeds power from the standby generator to the household or building circuit.

Remember, anytime a standby generator is wired or directly connected into a household or building wiring system, a transfer switch must be used for the connection.

A double-throw type transfer switch is required by the National Electric Code and by electric utility companies for two very good reasons. First, it prevents power backflow from the standby generator through the utility power line. This prevents possible electrocution of utility linemen working to restore service to the power lines. Second, it prevents damage to the standby generator when electrical service is restored; otherwise, the generator could be damaged extensively when power is reestablished.

You won't need to use a double-throw type transfer switch if you're plugging individual appliances like a refrigerator, freezer, sump pump or power tools directly into a small portable generator.

These are some more safety considerations to remember when using standby generators:

- Ground the generator using number six copper wire and an eight-foot ground rod that is properly bonded to the electrical grounding system.

- To avoid the possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning, never operate a standby generator in a basement or other enclosed area or near windows or doors that may lead into living spaces. Use battery operated carbon monoxide detectors, and if you start to feel sick, dizzy or weak while using a generator, get to fresh air right away.

- Use extreme caution when operating the generator in wet conditions.

Use only approved containers to store fuel. Never refill fuel when the generator is running or while the engine is hot; always allow ample time for it to cool down first.

- Do not shut off the generator under load.

For more information on transfer switches and other necessary measures for safe installation and use of standby generators, contact your local electric utility company or a qualified electrician. The Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service also has information on safety practices around the home, farm and business.

Gain confidence through 4-H speech program

Public speaking is one of Americans' biggest fears. 4-H gives youth a chance to conquer this fear at a young age by giving them public speaking experience through the speech program. By the end of the program, some of the shyest young people can feel the accomplishment of conquering this fear.

Public speaking is a component of many 4-H events including the 4-H country ham, poultry and equine competitions. By learning public speaking skills while they are young, youth will have the confidence, organizational skills and composure to become the influential leaders of tomorrow.

The important thing is for young people to give 4-H speech a try. The earlier they begin the program and the longer they stick with it, the stronger their public speaking skills will be. 4-H leaders can help youngsters become more comfortable with public speaking by having them draw a common household item out of a bag and then talk about it for 30 seconds to a minute. This exercise shows youth they shouldn't be afraid of public speaking.

Youth can deliver speeches on any topic they find interesting. As they look for more information on the topic, they develop valuable research skills. They also learn organizational skills by composing the speech and giving it the proper structure. Finally, they must use creative techniques to get the audience's attention.

There is also a statewide 4-H speech competition. These competitions begin at the county level. County winners advance to a district tournament, and district winners advance to a state tournament, which is usually held in July at the University of Kentucky campus in Lexington. Judges evaluate the presentation and the speaker's ability to clearly deliver a message. Speeches can be on any topic, and youth compete in one of nine age groups.

It's not too late to get involved in a 4-H speech program in your county. If you're interested, contact Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Add more zzzz's in your life

We all want a good night's sleep, but for some of us, sleep is hard to come by. If you experience trouble falling asleep or staying asleep, awakening too early or never feeling rested, you are not alone. Many adults experience sleep disturbances at some point. The National Institutes of Health estimates that nearly 30 percent of the general adult population complains of sleep disruption, and about 10 percent has functional impairment in the daytime that is a telltale sign of insomnia.

Stresses, anxieties, depression, poor sleep habits and certain medical conditions are common underlying causes of insomnia. Insomnia is also caused by changes in a person's environment or work schedule, some medications and consumption of caffeine, nicotine, alcohol and food too late in the evening. The risk of experiencing insomnia increases if you are a woman, over 60, have a mental disorder, under stress, work nights or swing shifts or frequently travel long distances over multiple time zones.

Sometimes you can make behavior changes to have a more restful night. These changes include following a regular sleep schedule, creating a comfortable sleep environment, avoiding stimulating activities before bedtime and decreasing or avoiding the consumption of alcohol, caffeine and nicotine close to bedtime.

If you consistently have trouble with unsettled sleeping patterns, you may want to see your doctor. More information about living a healthy, active life is available at the Pendleton County office of the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service.

The Amish Cook

By Gloria Yoder

Hi. My name is Julia Rose. I'm three years old. My birthday is on September 11. I have medium brown hair and blue eyes with long dark lashes. I'm a bit short for my age, kinda like Mom always was. Everyone says I look like both Mom and Dad. And guess what? To my delight people keep telling me my new baby brother, Austin, looks just like me!

It's very special to be a big sister and not only that, Mom also tells me I'm her big helper. Sometimes when Austin cries I get quite concerned and tell Mom to come quickly and at other times I can quiet him by showing him his toys or talking to him. Mom says Austin knows who I am and that he loves me!

This winter, Mom has been helping me memorize Bible verses. My favorite one is in Psalm 23, Verse 1. It says "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want." Mom says that means Jesus takes care of me just like a shepherd cares for his sheep. When I'm scared of something it helps me to pray to Jesus. He loves little children.

Spending time with

Daddy is always a treat for me. Earlier this winter he promised to help me make candy. The week before Christmas the two of us went to work in the kitchen. We made Daddy's favorite kind: buckeyes, of course! I love eating candy but Mom tells me I'm sweet enough without having to eat too many sweets!

Now today I'm going to help Mom bake pies. We want to make several different kinds, probably blueberry, apricot and apple. Mom always makes a little pie for me. This time I'm going to have apple because yesterday Mom made a large batch of apple pie filling and I loved it. I like helping Mom roll out the dough with my little rolling pin which is just my size. I also have an apron like Mom's that I'm going to wear to help her. Mom says it makes me look like a little lady.

Another one of my highlights is going to Grandma and Grandpa's house. Occasionally I help Grandma bake cupcakes which is always a treat. She even lets me help her decorate them with pretty sprinkles. Recently she made a batch of playdough for my little cousins and I to play with. I've had lots of fun making all kinds of things including little pies and cookies for Mom and Grandma.

Would you also like to make a batch of play dough for someone little, like me? I'm sure you could bring a smile to their face? My favorite color is pink but of course you can make any color you please. Below is the recipe for homemade playdough.

Ingredients:

- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 cup salt
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 2 teaspoons cream of tartar
- 1 cup water
- food coloring

Directions:

Put all ingredients in a saucepan. Cook on low heat for three minutes stirring constantly. It will pull away from pan when cooked to dough consistency. Remove from pan. Knead. When cooled place in a tight container. Makes one pound of playdough.

CARD OF THANKS

Yelton Family Thanks

We would like to thank everyone for the love and kindness shown to us during the loss of our mother and grandmother, Patricia Ann Field Yelton. We very much appreciate all the kind words, flowers, gifts and the different ways people showed us their love and support. Living in a small community is truly a blessing. A very special thank you to Randy Wells and the entire Woodhead family for making this very difficult time just a little less painful. Also, we would like to thank Brother Rick Halcomb and his wife, Lisa. Words cannot express our gratitude. Lastly, we want to express our gratitude to River Valley Nursing Home for the care they gave Mom for the last nine years of her life. The staff at River Valley seems that they are not there for simply a pay check but they truly care. Money cannot buy the way they treated Mom like family. Rob & RJ Yelton and Lora Clore 48-1fmc

Carr Family Thanks

The family of Carlene Carr would like to express our thanks for all the kindness shown to us in the loss of our 102 year old mother, grandmother and great-grandmother. Opening government to public oversight is the ultimate safeguard of democracy...

Passage of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) was a watershed moment for democracy. It reaffirmed the rights of US citizens to know how their elected representatives run the country – a fundamental right in any society built on the notion of a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. FOIA made permanent the concept that government cannot parcel out information as it sees fit, and instead memorialized the fact that government information ultimately belongs to its citizens. Through FOIA, ordinary citizens and the media have uncovered critical information regarding everything from health care delivery to the environment.

BUTLER METHODIST

It's a time for starting over. Are you thinking about how you are going to spend eternity? Now, is a perfect time to get that settled in your heart. Come back to church and get right with God, start a new life for a new year.

The Archery ministry will be resuming again in February. Hope you can join in the fun.

Barb Shelton has graciously offered to teach our younger children to play the bells. Eight children are needed to make those pretty sounds.

Happy anniversary to Bernice and Harry Kyle celebrating their 71st on January 7.

Please pray for the Remley, Ferguson, Reed, and Florence families, Lori Fookes, Beverly's mother, the seven year old who survived the plane crash, the children returning to school, Kathy Jones, Mary Ann's nephew, Pam who had surgery on Tuesday, Daniel, and praises for Frank and Carolyn, happy to have Mark and the Colonel in for a visit over the holidays from Florida.

God Bless You.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

The congregation is excited about the Lord building His church spiritually strong in 2015, and many souls being saved and people being healed of their infirmities.

These are just a few of the promises that the Lord has made in His holy word.

Pastor Kevin preached on the need to be fully aware of the tactics and snares of the devil in order not to be deceived and lead astray.

The Lord warned Peter that Satan desired to sift him like wheat but He also informed Peter that He had prayed for him.

The truth is, Satan desires to sift all of God's children like wheat, yet we must be strong in order to survive the sifting.

Just as the Lord had prayed for Peter, He too has prayed for every believer in His high priestly prayer in John 17.

Prayer concerns; Mark Perkins, Greg Justice, Wes Cain Sr., Rand and Kim Taylor.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

Happy New Year! May we each come to know Christ more intimately in 2015.

The youth had a wonderful time at Winter Xtreme in Gatlinburg and according to what Bro. Cohen shared with us, they were extremely well behaved too.

The first message of the new year dealt with how we should come to the Lord's table for communion. We need to come in remembrance of Christ and reflecting on the one who is the Son of God. We need to come in celebration of the risen Savior. We need to come inspecting our own lives and we need to come accepting what Christ has done for us...accepting the free gift that He has given us.

January is "Call to Prayer" month. Focus on Luke 10:2 "The harvest is abundant, but the workers

"Taste and see that the Lord is good. Oh, the joys of those who take refuge in him!" ~ Psalm 34:8

are few. Therefore, pray to the Lord of the harvest to send out workers into His harvest."

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Christmas is more than just presents. Everyone should go to a Christmas Eve service and there they will find the true meaning of Christmas. The lights are dimmed, we sing Christmas carols, there is a hush over the room, we light the candles, the Christmas story is read. You can feel Jesus everywhere.

The Falmouth Baptist Church had a prayer service the first Sunday after the new year. The lights were lowered, the choir was singing. It was so quiet, you could hear a pin drop. The people were praying, oh what a service.

Go to church Sunday, and give your heart to Jesus.

HARVEST COMMUNITY

Bro. Dale's morning message was based on scripture text from Deuteronomy 33:25, titled "God's Promise for a New Year." Are you content in any circumstance you face? We must remember the difference between our wants and our needs. We must learn to rely on God's promises and power to help us be content. Take each day as it comes; do not get ahead of God. Make God number one for the new year.

Upcoming opportunities: men's meeting/breakfast 8 a.m. Saturday, January 17. The youth will enjoy an afternoon of Lazer Kraze immediately following morning worship on January 18.

Prayer concerns: Rachel Stamper, Kathy Wyatt, Anne Ryan, Ricky Myers, Bobby Mitchell, Bill Ockerman and the families of Bro. Don Weaver and Fred Pugh.

Come worship with us at 111 E. Shelby Street.

"True joy comes from God and He shares this joy with those who walk with Him."

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Today was the first Sunday of our 2015 New Year. Kathie had the children face the congregation, celebrate with party poppers, and say Happy New Year.

"Faith, Hope & Love" was Steve Wood's topic this morning. We talk about faith and love but we don't often mention hope. Hope is very essential in our lives. Let us begin our new year with all three.

Wednesday night Bible study continues on January 14, 6 p.m. with pot luck and Bible study.

Dr. Michael Schafer and his group will conduct our worship service Sunday, January 18. Fellowship meal and board meeting will follow.

Our attendance has been down the last two weeks due to illness. Remember to pray for the sick, lonely and despondent.

God has given us two hands, one to receive and the other to give with.

MT. MORIAH

Happy New Year from Mt. Moriah Christian Church. May this be the year you find peace in your relationship with our Savior. Your relationship with God begins with prayer. You must have a good prayer life. Prayer should not be just a list of "I want," "Please give me." It really needs to be a relationship where we also sit quietly sometimes and just listen to the Spirit. We also need to study the Word and hear what it says to us. Are you ready to take your relationship to a higher level in 2015? Here are a few scriptures you could start with; Philippians 4:6-7 and Matthew 6:9-13

We added many to our prayer list this week including, the families of Jake Remely and Missy Meade, Alvin Adams, Don Hausmer, Ken Rich family, Lincoln Meyer and many others.

NEW HOPE

The new year often brings with it new broken promises. We promise that we will lose weight, read the Bible more, spend less money, or exercise more. Before too long, we break those promises. Wouldn't it be nice to know someone who kept all his or her promises? We do, it is God. God does not lie and He does not promise anything that He cannot or will not do. God promises us that if we repent of our sins, believe that Jesus is the Son of God, confess Him as our Lord and Savior, and be baptized we will be saved from our sins. He promised Jesus would return and take us to heaven. These are all promises that God makes and keeps. We can trust His promises. Do you trust in His promises?

NEW ZION

Come join us for Worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship is at 11 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m.

Upcoming Opportunities: On January 18, we will have a business meeting at 12:15 p.m.

Romans 12:21 (Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.)

Please remember in prayer John Thomas, Tina Cochran, Mable Fields, Mandi Kindle, Brenda Uhrig, Niki Jansen, Tyler Reynolds, Brandon Browning, Joe Hamilton, Fred Shonk, Karessa Hinton and the Pugh family. Also remember to pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

Looks like winter is here!! Cold temps and the white stuff - good time to pick up a Bible and read while you are in house. After all, knowledge plus love equals edification (building up). All people need that!

Just a reminder that our morning worship services are 8:30 and 10:35 a.m. with Sunday School at 9:30 a.m. Call the church, 859-654-6174 (by Saturday afternoon), if you need transportation.

Our sympathy to loved ones of Patty Field Yelton, Wanda "Bonnie" Florence, Fred Pugh, Jake Remley, and Ruby LaMonda. Other prayer concerns are Lowell Thomas, Linda Powell Lindsey, Ann Ryan, Danielle King-Klaber, Barbara Singer, Debbie Veirs, Tommy Colvin, Margie

Logan, Zelma King, Rose-Mary Ramsey, Chanis and Jeanine Cox, Blanche Cannon, Dana Tucker, Pat Ray, Don Pence, shut-ins, cancer issues, armed forces, and our leaders.

PLEASANT RIDGE

Bro. Rick's message was from Leviticus 17:11 "For the life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you upon the altar to make an atonement for your souls: for it is the blood that maketh an atonement for the soul."

Without blood there can't be physical life. Blood flows through the Bible. God sees the blood applied to our lives. The death of Jesus set into motion a cleansing for us to accept. The blood of Jesus was pure. When the pure blood of Christ is applied to a sinner, he is cleansed. The blood of Christ is permanent.

Have you placed yourself under the blood of Christ?

Evening Bible study 6 p.m.

PINE GROVE

Bro. Ron based his sermon on Paul's message to the Ephesians during his captivity in Rome. Paul had experienced brutality following his conversion on the road to Damascus. Prior to this, he had been a murderer of Christians. But in his message, he taught the Ephesians the love of Jesus and the blessed trinity and that no love is greater than the love of Jesus. Jesus' love is beyond knowledge. That the mission statement is to take the message into the entire world.

Our prayer concerns include Emma Mae Carr, Jean Myers, Terry Morris, Faye Halcomb, and Greg Alsip's aunt and the families of Bonnie Florence and Pat Yelton.

Our Dream Kids will meet January 14, from 4-6 p.m. followed by our U.M.W. at 6 p.m.

Glyn Blades, will celebrate his 94th birthday January 7. Let's wish him a happy birthday.

As we move forward into our weekly activities, let's remember that our sins were washed away by Jesus' blood.

SOUTHSIDE

Happy New Year! On January 4, Brother Marvin Sullivan, worship leader, led the congregation with the opening hymn, "We Have Come into His House." Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "What is the Vision for the Southside Church of Christ in 2015?" From Ephesians 4:1-16. Brother Clay preached on two things for the New Year of 2015: 1. Change is inevitable, and 2. Emphasis on evangelism. The memory verse for the week comes from Ephesians 4:1, "As a prisoner for the Lord, then, I urge you to live a life worthy of the calling you have received."

Be in prayer for all in one way or another. Come and worship with us this Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday school and 10 a.m. worship service. Have a great day!

TRINITY

We welcomed the first Sunday of 2015 with prayer and fellowship as our morning worship service began. The choir blessed us with "Come to Bethlehem - He is risen!" Thanks to Dylan Stacy for singing, "Mary Did You Know?"

Marc presented the children's sermon on reminiscing and time. Telling the children that no one knows how much time they have on this earth to live and that each person's is different; so make time to share Jesus with someone.

Bro. Hefner's sermon, "Onward and Upward" focused on Philippians 3:12-16. We need to strive each day to better ourselves in our walk with our Savior. We need to put the past in the past and be ready to move forward.

Family game night will resume at 7 p.m. January 30.

So much sickness within the church/community, take a moment to drop a card or make a phone call to show you care.

Thought: God wants to be your dwelling place; not a weekend getaway or vacation cabin.

COMBINED NOTICE NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

Pendleton County Fiscal Court

Courthouse, 233 Main Street, Falmouth, Kentucky 41040
859-654-4321

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS, AND PERSONS:

On or about January 29, 2015, the above named county will request the Department of Local Government to release Federal funds under Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the following project:

Pendleton County Ambulance Building Development Project.

The Pendleton County Fiscal Court seeks to assist the Pendleton County Ambulance Taxing District (District) to construct a much needed 7,000 s.f ambulance building for this community of 54.2 % Low and Moderate Income (LMI) persons. This facility to be located on 2.5 acres on KY 330 just west of Falmouth Kentucky. The property, which is owned by the District, is out of the 500-year flood plain and in the approximate center of the majority of the population of Pendleton County. This facility replaces an aging and inefficient 3,100 s.f. facility, which is located on a landlocked parcel of property in the 100 year flood plain in downtown Falmouth. The Census Tract is 9302.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of human environment and, accordingly, the above-named county has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL-91-190). Although there will be some temporary noise and dust, such disturbance will be eliminated upon completion of the project. Further, based on the findings of a phase I archeological assessment, this project will have no effect on sites eligible for listing on the national register. An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above name county which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at the fiscal court between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. Monday thru Friday. No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the county to the office of the Judge Executive. Such written comments should be received at the address specified above on or before January 29, 2015. All such comments so received will be considered and the county will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified on the proceeding sentence.

The Pendleton County Fiscal Court will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from Department of Local Government under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The county is certifying to the state that the county and David Fields, in his official capacity as Judge Executive consent to accept the jurisdiction of the federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval the county may use the Block Grant funds and the state and HUD will have satisfied their responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The state will accept an objection to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases:

- The certification was not in fact executed by the city/county Certifying Officer.
- The city/county has filed to make one of the two findings pursuant to SS58.41 or to make the written determination decision required by SS578.57, 58.53 or 58.64 for the project, as applicable.
- The city/county has omitted one or more of the steps set forth at Subparts F and G for the preparation and completion of an EA.
- No opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800.
- The recipient has committed funds or incurred costs not authorized by this part before release of funds and approval of the Environmental Certification by HUD or the State.
- Objections have been made by a federal agency.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedures (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to the Department of Local Government, 1024 Capital Center Drive, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the state. No objection received after February 13, 2015 will be considered by the state.
